Itinerary

We've cherry picked the best of the coastal riding in the area for this Pacific Coast Highway bicycle tour. After meeting in Cambria (or at your nearby hotel) we shuttle past Hearst Castle to Ragged Point. Hopping on your bike, cycle Highway One down an isolated and pristine stretch of the coast past the historic Piedras Blancas lighthouse and visit the largest elephant seal colony in North America – a must see wildlife attraction! Continuing south with spectacular views of the ocean dominating the landscape, you'll have the option of eating a gourmet picnic lunch by the pier at Hearst State Beach or continuing on to picnic at a cozy seaside park near Cambria. With just a few hills, but no major climbs, this Pacific Coast Highway bicycle tour is perhaps the easiest way to take in some of the world class scenery by bike that the area has to offer. The tour is also highly flexible with options to reduce or extend miles as the morning develops, all without missing any of the main attractions.

Distance/Difficulty/Terrain: 13, 15 or 21 miles. Moderately Easy. Mostly level terrain with some short ups and downs.

Climate / Weather

The climate along the north county coastal area is temperate year round. High temperatures can range from 50s to upper 70s, although daily highs are usually in the 60s and morning temperatures are usually cooler. In summer there is often fog along the coast and in winter we may encounter rain.
