Itinerary

Our San Luis Obispo wine country half day bike tour highlights the Edna Valley, a delightfully compact wine growing area located just south of town. Ringed with dramatic hills and closer to the ocean than Paso Robles, the wineries of the Edna Valley produce excellent Chardonnays and Pinot Noirs. Our tour meanders through rolling terrain of this picturesque vineyard filled valley and has ample opportunities to taste wines at such award winning wineries as Saucelito Canyon, Kynsi, and Chamisal. Other wineries potentially include Talley, Kynsi, Claiborne and Churchill, Sextant, Biddle Ranch and Edna Valley. We finish our cycling at Baileyana Winery, located in a restored historic schoolhouse, and enjoy a complimentary wine tasting along with a gourmet picnic lunch. While there are some short hills on this bicycle tour, there are also plenty of scenic wineries along the way to tempt you with a quick tasting break, making this tour the perfect choice for cyclists who want to maximize wine tasting opportunities.

Distance/Difficulty/Terrain: 10 miles with an option to add 6 miles. Moderate. A mix of relatively level riding with some hillier stretches on the 10 mile option (elevation gain/loss = 435 feet).

Climate / Weather

The weather in the San Luis Obispo area is moderate year round. Mid summer daily high temperatures average in the low 80s and lows are typically in the mid 50s. Mid winter temperatures are only about 10-15 degrees cooler, with highs usually in the mid 60s and lows in the low 40s. Fall and spring temps are between these ranges. Rain is very rare from May to October.
